

I urge you to hold to the current November deadline for wireless phone companies to allow customers to retain the same cell phone number when they change carriers, and not to consider the request that this requirement be dropped.